

CAR WARS!

Ken. "instrumental"

THE WAR IS OVER! or lets hope so. With a victory to common sense. In that, the UK car policy is to remain intact. Sighs of relief could surely have been heard all over the land.

We were not the only beneficiaries of this policy. The company also came out a winner. Because we believe that some staff had started to construct "lifeboats" prompting a possible than suffer the discomfort and humiliation that upon them.

"brain-drain" rather promised to descend

We owe thanks to several people for campaigning strongly on our behalf, rather than letting off wind, like most of us did. Namely, Jon for writing a very subjective memo [PHANTOM currently seeking permission to reproduce in the future]; Dave for persistence in following our case through; Most importantly Ken, whose influence was instrumental in getting the decision reversed. Well done all round.

TECHNICIAN ATTEMPTS TO CLAIM WORLD LAND SPEED RECORD

See indside for details on this mighty blunder.

Also, serious overtones claimed anonymous contributor.

WHOSE "BIN" GETTIN UP DAVES NOSE?

We were thinking of exposing the famous "Bin Man" of memo 20th June, but the Editor was scared of having four flat tyres at the next meeting.

ANOTHER RIPPING FAX FROM BELGIUM

D010 says, they have modified their feet to prevent "breakings" so installers will have to scrape around the front so you can spouse a new base.

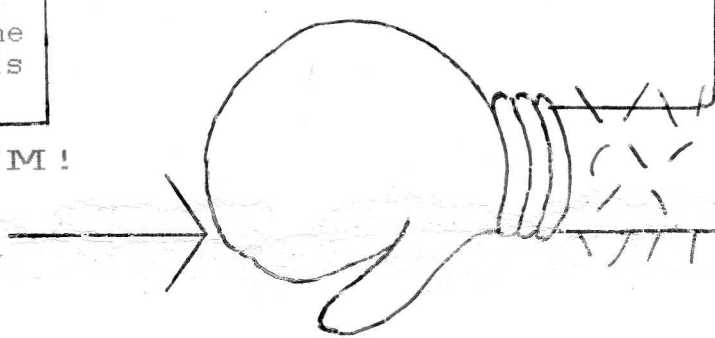

It will be a sad day for the PHANTOM when Phil Rouge finds his dictionary.

NO HEIR FOR A BERKSHIP

NOBODY nominated anybody as Berk of the month, unbelievable. I can think of plenty.

MAXIMISE THAT CLAIM!

Remember issue 0002? He's back. Avid expense claimers don' miss it!

E D I T O R I A L

Very late PHANTOM, sorry. The main reason was no computer for a couple of months. And at the suggestion of typing by hand there were several steps backward among the volunteers. Never mind, all blasting along now, certainly a lot easier than type. This Editorial has been re-written more times than one of Ronnie Regans' speeches, I think this is about the fourth time this issue has been re-done. This is for a multitude of reasons, the main one being that by the time we get to a position to print, the first articles written are such old news they are completely irrelevant. However the show must go on, as we have had some quality contributions and its only fair to reward the authors with publication. DON'T forget to fill in your ballot sheet that is enclosed separately with this issue.

By the way we are 1 this month! Who thought it would last. Who cares! New political Editor this month, and welcome to Anne Tenor.

ANON.

Thank you for your wonderful publication it gives me hours of fun and enjoyment. It's wonderful to think that we have such marvelous and talented people on the staff, that can produce such a piece of intellectual genius.

I must have a word with Ken and see that you all have a big bonus.

Yours
Art.

Dear Ed.

Following on your theme of "Technospeak", here are some commonly heard Knogo phrases.

1/ "Good Morning, did I wake you!" (It's 6.30am & I've been up since 4.30am so why should you have any bloody sleep)

2/ The powers in already. (Someone's slung some cooker wire under the carpet, and its about 8ft apart where it comes up)

3/ I'll get on to it. (Now where did I put that crossword)

4/ I've got a call for you. (I'ts 200 miles away and will take all day just to get there)

5/ There's a tech's meeting on Friday. (Stop your life, Knogo calls)
