

DEVILS ISLAND!

PORTUGAL, a country with a strange language. It seems to lack a few of the more common words often found elsewhere. Like; Car Park, "Oop's I'm sorry", and "My round".

However, the climate does say something, 20 C in mid Winter. Not that our two intrepid travelers saw much of it trapped in Europe's biggest dustbowl! It may have been a coup for Knogo to bag this gigantic store, but it was no fun to work in. Acres of dust from freshly grouted floor and so many tills you needed a bike to go for a piss!

Despite high odds pitted against our team i.e. fellow workmates who spoke no English at all! A complete fuck-up with installation schedule (30+ bases arriving 2 days before our departure) A result was achieved in that over half of the systems were running on departure.

Ray with friends - possibly sizeing him up for a "bite out"
